An edelweiss on the path

Fresh and pure in the blue of the sky,
Scattered white clouds, but without a veil.
The mountain, always beautiful and majestic,
Blends perfectly with the gray, green, and blue.
Nature releases her strength this way,
And struggles to keep up with progress.
An edelweiss stops her along the path —
A great step forward compared to yesterday.
Those large, white, velvety petals
Are a sign of times that have changed for the better.
